We have to announce that Clyde Stoddart has resigned as Society Auctioneer. We thank him for all the work he has done since the Society was formed.

The post of Auctioneer therefore becomes vacant and, to-date, two of our members have declared an interest in filling the position.

An Auction has been prepared and is now enclosed with this issue of TEE TIME. Closing date for bids is as shown on the Bid Sheet.

The Open Championship—1992 Commemorative Cover

the world famous championship course and home of the Honourable Company of Edinburgh Golfers has surrounding it North Berwick Golf Club (West Links) one of the oldest and most distinguished in the country and one of the few true "links" courses; the shorter East Links course which was originally laid out as a nine-hole course in 1894 by James Braid and Ben Sayers; the three Gullane courses, between them catering for all tastes and standards; Luffness New, which has been used as the qualifying course for the Open, and the seaside courses of Kilspindie and Longniddry both fine sporting courses. The contrast of an inland course is at Haddington and there is a nine-hole course in the picturesque village of Gifford.

POSTCARD CORNER

by Stuart R. MacKenzie

TOM BROWNE

Tom Brown (1870-1910) born in Nottingham was one of the most popular and famous of the postcard illustrators, with close to 1400 postcards to his credit.

He left school at an early age (11 years) and spent the first two years of his working life as an errand boy, first at a Milliner's and then at a lace market. At fourteen he began his apprenticeship with a Lithographic Printer and after a time became a designer.

He was encouraged to send some of his work to a comic paper publisher and was paid thirty shillings - at that time equal to three months wages. After his apprenticeship finished he went to Art School at Nottingham, but, London beckoned and he spent several years making ends meet.

Luck fell his way when he was invited to design a front-page for a comic paper - creating Weary Willie and Tired Tim. This was an instant success when sales of the paper soared.

After this success he was introduced to the Langham Sketching Club, meeting place for Artists. Work followed with some of work being accepted by "Punch".

In 1898 he was made a member of the Royal Society of British Artists and, in 1901, of the Royal Institute of Painters and Water Colour - ists.

Postcard work flourished when he decided to see the World, visiting many countries including - China, Japan and The United States, where his work was published in the New York Times and Chicago Tribune.

On his return to the U.K., he set up a studio at Blackheath, London and continued to produce work that was published in The Illustrated Sports and Dramatic News, The London Magazine, Fry's Magazine, The Daily Chronicle and Weekly Telegraph.

In 1907 he was made President of the London Sketch Club.

Tragically, he died of Cancer in 1910 at the early age of 39

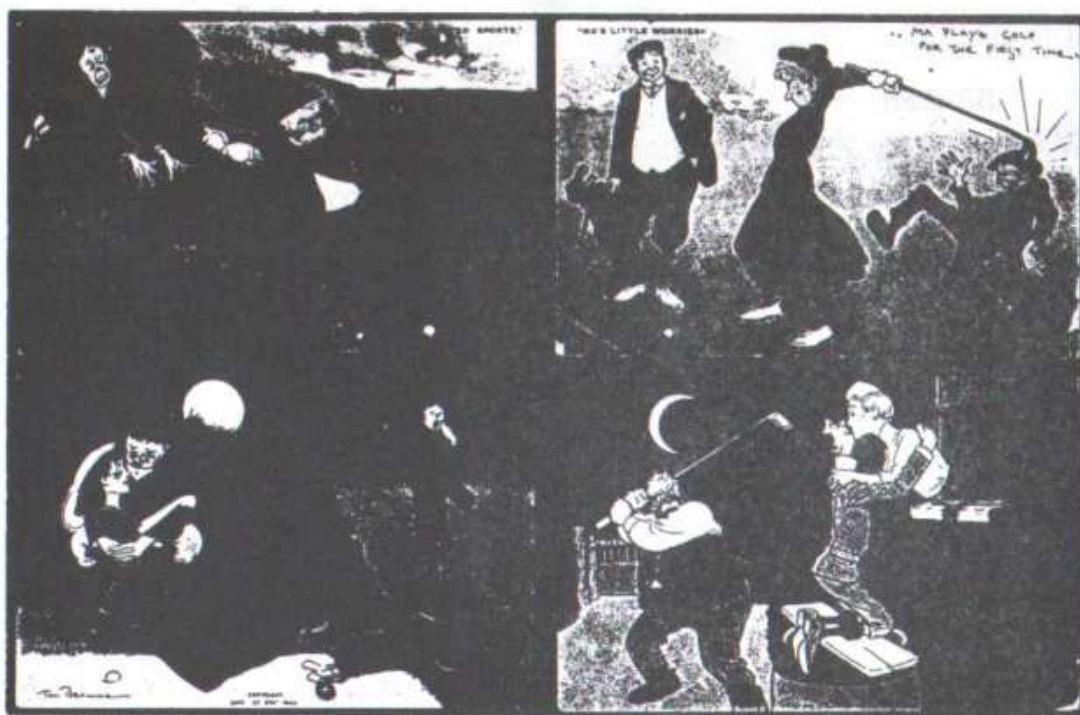

Quite a number of postcards were of golf humour. The following list gives details of the cards produced, mainly for Davidson Brothers.
