IPGS Members at ATA Convention

Three of our IPGS members got together to discuss golf philately at the recent ATA convention held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, July 30 through August 1, 1999. The ATA show, now called the National Topical Stamp Show (NTSS), is the only show which has thematic exhibits only. The show is held annually the last week in July and Buffalo, New York is the site for 2000. If you are interested in seeing a variety of thematic exhibits at one location, this would be the show to attend.

CANCEL CORNER

by Lois Nelson and Gary Schwieger

We have a few new cancels with some variety and to go along with the variety, we have noted some beautiful cachets. It is great to see official cachets available as this practice has been relatively scarce in the United States.

The following is a list of cancels that have been received as of August 6, 1999.

Bobby Jones Birthday Celebration, East Lake Golf Club Station, Atlanta, Georgia, March 17, 1999—Two different cancels were available for the same date, both in black ink.

Memorial Tournament Station, Dublin, Ohio, May 31 through June 6, 1999—cancel available for all dates in green ink.

99th U.S. Open Championship Station, Village of Pinehurst, North Carolina, June 17 through June 20, 1999—both a machine cancel and a hand cancel were available for each date in black ink.

Lightpath Long Island Classic Station, Jericho, New York, August 2, 1999—cancel available in black ink.

The official cachets were for the U.S. Open Championship. One was produced by the USPS under contract with Pinehurst Golf Course and the U.S. Open tournament committee. It pictures a small person carrying a golf club and were canceled June 17 and 20, 1999. If you wish to contact the post office write: Blake Road Post Office, Pinehurst, NC 28374-9998.

Other official cachets were done by the golf course and they show different scenes from the Village of Pinehurst. If you are interested in ordering the address is: Resorts of Pinehurst, P.O.Box 4000, Pinehurst, NC 28374.

MAXIMUM GOLF

by Patricia Loehr

When I began collecting golf philately, I eagerly sought out stamps, cancellations, booklets, etc.--in other words, the obvious material. After my accumulation of material needed organization, I decided to attempt an exhibit for our local exhibition and was advised to include as many philatelic elements related to my topic as I could locate. A variety of elements is expected and will enhance not only a topical exhibit, but the collection it comes from as well. This led me to finally confront my bewilderment over maximum cards in an effort to include one in my exhibit.

Defining a maximum card can be a challenge as I found an abundance of descriptions. Vol. 44, No. 4 of Topical Time (July-August 1993) is devoted to the "True Story of Maximaphily." In that issue Carlo Ghiozzi writes that: "A true maximum card is defined as a philatelic piece formed by one stamp affixed to the view-side of a picture postcard having the same subject as the stamp, and canceled with a postmark which must agree with the subject of the stamp and picture postcard." In short, the objective is maximum agreement of the stamp, postcard and postmark.

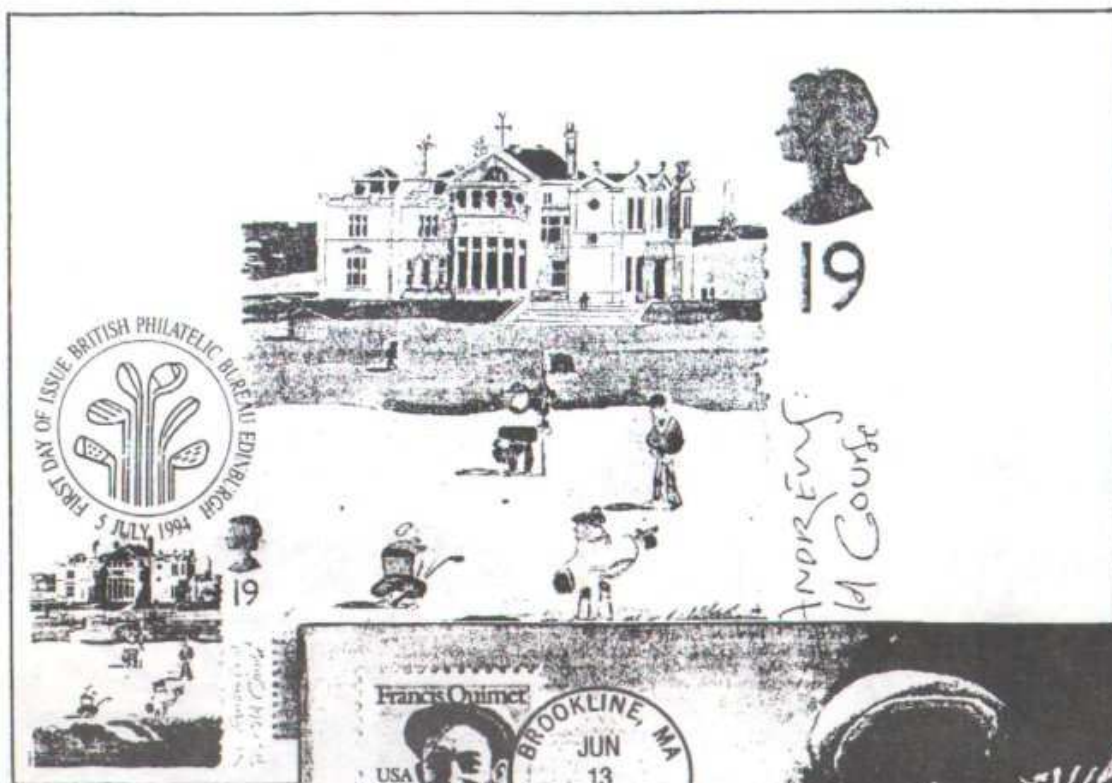

Using this information I looked through my supply of golf picture postcards to find one that would combine with the golf stamp from the United States recreational sports set in use at the time. For a cancel I sent my card off to Golf, Illinois. The result appears below (Card #1) and made a nice addition to my exhibit.

Card #1

Some cards that may appear to be maximum cards are not if the Postcard is an exact reproduction of the stamp. For a true maximum card, the postcard must agree with the stamp, but should not be identical. Ghiozzi refers to cards that picture the stamp as false maximum cards since they do not adhere to the definition. Such cards are often called souvenir cards. Another name for the British cards such as the one shown are PHQ cards. These cards are considered a post office picture card and are printed at the House of Questa, London, England, hence the PHQ. See Card #2 below.

Card #2

Even though true maximum cards are expected to be the do-it-yourself kind, commercially produced cards are also available like Card #3, opposite.

A strict interpretation of a maximum card would consider commercially produced cards as false since the postcard would have been produced with the intent of forming a maximum card rather than using a postcard found in the marketplace. Apparently, the two examples below have been commercially produced. The first day cancellation used on these cards is pictorial which increases the agreement of the cancel to the stamp and postcard. (It appears Card #5 was designed by the designer of the stamp itself--Jubert.)

Card #5

I enjoy making golf maximum cards and wonder if other members have maximum cards from their collections they would like to share?

NEW ISSUES

Several new stamps, souvenir sheets and sheetlets during the last several months. Unfortunately, we have no dates of issue for most of these postal items.

The first issue is for Angola and features Isao Aoki. This issue consists of a single stamp, printed in souvenir sheet format, a souvenir sheet showing a block of four stamps (same design) with Tiger Woods in the margin. The sheetlet of nine has the same design stamp along with eight other stamps featuring Great People of the 20th Century. All of these items exist both perforated and imperforate.

The second country issued a souvenir sheet and a sheetlet of nine featuring Lucille Ball and other characters from the "I Love Lucy" television program. These items were printed both perforated and imperforate.

Front Postcard: "Digging in for Par"

by Cora B. Collins

The postcard on the front cover has a date of August 1939. It reads as though service specials for the month were a regular practice. This ad was for a Chrysler and Plymouth dealer in South Bend, Indiana. It was mailed on July 27 and the special was apparently available during the month of August, 1939. One could get a lot of work done for $2.25 in 1939.

The card is signed by Lawson Wood and is printed on thicker paper, almost like cardboard. While this card has the appearance of a linen of the period, the surface of the card is smooth and it is prepunched to hang on the wall. It would seem reasonable that other cards of a similar advertising nature do exist. However, in all likelihood they were not golf comics so they would not have been found.

If you have an interesting card which could be featured, please send a clear black and white photocopy along with any known information.
